Your task is to write a reflection about the Rights and Freedom movement which occurred in Australia in the 20th century, providing an understanding of the context (why) it happened, how it happened, at least one key individual and what they did and important dates and events in the process.

You can reflect on what you knew previously, what you found interesting to learn and if it has had any impact on your personal views.

The response should be approximately 500 - 750 words. You may use informal language (i.e. possessive language "I think"... etc.)

You may use direct quotes from the information provided and online but you need to place it into quotation marks to avoid plagiarism.

You are to use photographs and pictures to strengthen your discussion. These pictures are to have brief explanations as to what is being shown and how it ties to the Rights and Freedoms movement.

You are required to supply a bibliography with at least 5 different resources listed. This means at least 5 different websites, books etc.
